"Stoneflies" by Richards, Swisher & Arbona

Standing in a River Waving a Stick by John Gierach

I also like to relax with fly fishing related books like the Kieth

McCafferty novels that mix fly fishing with mystery. Also, most of John Gierach books of short stories on his trips.

Yellowstone Fly Fishing Mystery Series by Raymond Kieft –

Firehole River Murder

The Royal Wulff Murders by Keith McCafferty

Dynamic Nymphing by George Daniels a very detailed book on

Czech, Polish, French and UK Nymphing tactics.

A book that I'm always referring to is Bill Nash's "Flycasting

Systems" because I can't remember how to tie the knots I want to use.

Dynamic Nymphing by George Daniel

High Sierra Fly Fishing, Billy Van Loek

Trout Fishing the John Muir Trail, Charles S. (Steve) Beck

Emigrant Wilderness and Northwestern Yosemite (not a fishing book but a good backpacking guide that offers fishing information), Ben Schifrin

DVD

Flycasters library and you-tube are great resources for these.

Advance Casting Techniques by Doug Swisher - we have it in our club video library.

<https://vimeo.com/162904599> - Here is a great video that not only is a good example of why we love this sport but also a very strong statement about conservation of our waters.

Trout Unlimited's - Streamkeeper's bLog

"Two Guys and a River". It is a casual podcast done at an average level to fly fishing but is informative as well as entertaining.

"Orvis Fly Fishing" Podcast and "Ask About Fly Fishing" Podcasts can get a bit dry and technical on select subjects.
